Infinity – Celebrating Infinite Femininity presented by
The Angelina Tay School of Bellydance

Treat your senses to a night of Middle Eastern dance set to the mesmerising mystique and hypnotic rhythms of the Sahara presented by The Angelina Tay School of Bellydance.

To be performed at Raffles Hotel's Jubilee Hall in celebration of International Women's Day on 8 March 2013, Middle Eastern or bellydance is a sensual and feminine dance form that can be practised by any woman at any age to strengthen their core muscles and boost their sense of well-being.

The two-hour performance will be headlined by dancers from The Angelina Tay School of Bellydance under the artistic direction of noted choreographer Chang Hsiao-Min.

Among the dancers, aged between 27 and 54, there is a doctor, administrative executives, managers, personal assistants and financial consultants. They have worked tirelessly for months now for this show. Other performers include renowned Danish- Palestinian darbuka player Simona Abdallah, Singapore jazz singer Anne Weerapass, all-girl jazz band Tessera, magician and fire artiste Danny Koh, plus award-winning artistes Namiko Chan, Jamila Wang and Inessa Kalabekova. The show will be hosted by Mark van Cuylenburg, The Flying Dutchman of Class 95FM.

Tickets priced at $68 each are available through SISTIC. Seventy per cent of the proceeds will go to the Lupus Association of Singapore. The School hopes to raise over $18,000 for the Association.

Lupus is an auto-immune disease affecting mainly Asian women. The Lupus Association of Singapore is a patient-led support group with a small voluntary staff. There are about 4,000 known lupus sufferers in Singapore and funds raised will go a long way in helping financially challenged lupus sufferers regain confidence in life.

“This is the second year that The Angelina Tay School of Bellydance is raising awareness for Lupus Association,” says Ms Angelina Tay, a renowned bellydancer for 10 years and founder of the School.

“I have always wanted to use the art of bellydance for a good cause. Bellydance can build self-confidence for women from all ages and all walks of life and we want to share our love for dance with the wider community.”
